Born in Ogden, Utah, educated in the Ogden schools, graduate of the Detroit College of Law, with two years' practice in the court in Detroit prior to his coming to Utah, Charles L. Farr is one of the best known of the younger attorneys at the local bar.

If elected to the position of County Attorney, Mr. Farr pledges himself to enforce the laws strictly and without fear or favor, and makes this pledge with particular regard to enforcement of the laws touching prohibition. # CONGRESS IN NEED OF WESTERN FACTS

Election of Timothy C. Hoyt Will Assure Utah's Excellent Representation.

That the United States congress needs just such a man as Timothy C Hoyt, the Republican nominee of the First congressional district, in order that legislation concerning the west may be based upon facts and not the ories is the belief of hundreds of friends of the candidate scattered broughout the entire state of Utah Hoyt has not only lived in a half dozen counties of the state, but because of his work as a forestry official has studied the conditions at first hand. Hundreds of measures are considered each year by congress that are prepared presumably to meet western conditions. However, the congressional representation of the west is small and nearly all of the congressmen come from the larger cities-knowing little about the vital questions affect ing the livestock industry, the farming industry, the timber industry and other western affairs. For that reason the election of Timothy C. Hoyt, who has been in actual touch with all of these industries, who has studied them and has worked for the development of the state through these enterprises, is of vital importance. At the same time the Republican nominee has had such experience in government service, both in Utah and in Washington, D. C., that he will be able to compently handle the various problems that must be presented through the departments. He will be able to inform the eastern congressmen regarding the legislative needs of the west, and particularly in Utah. There is a general tendency among eastern congressmen to pass western legislation entirely on theory. The Republican nominee will be able to show what western facts must be faced in considering legislative value and thus overcome to a considerable extent many moves, generally unintentional, which might have a deterrent effect on western progress. Timothy C. Hoyt's record in the affairs of Utah is one of which his friends feel proud. They point to the fact that he is a Utah-born man, that he gradually worked through responsible positions in the United States forest service and made advances in that department until he became the head of the land department handling affairs in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada and northern Arizona. His knowledge of federal and state laws, his knowledge of the forests and of the industries that go hand in hand with forest use and development, his knowledge of business and manufacturing and his life in development of Utah are all considered as essential reasons why he should be elected by the voters of the First congressional district on Tuesday, November 7, 1916.-Adver-
